

Hi!

Here's how I treat my customers data regarding to the GDPR regulations.

It basically gives you as a consumer stronger protection and puts more obligations on companies to treat your integrity well.

I have always valued my customers integrity and thus, I'm careful in how I store and use your personal data. Under GDPR I will be even more transparent on what data we collect and how we use it.

For a full list of what data is collected on my website when you sign-up for the newsletter or make a purchase, as well as other questions relating to the new GDPR regulations, please read my Privacy Policy.

In short terms:

- I use your name and e-mail to contact you via e-mail
- I never share our data
- Your data is secured on my website by host www.ragesw.com
- Like almost all websites, we use a tracking cookie to see what pages are being browsed on www.thomasberglundguitarlessons.com & www.thomasberglund.com

There is no action required from you.

Best wishes
